APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

for non-US students applying to the Bologna Center
Deadline: FEBRUARY 1

All candidates for admission to the SAIS Bologna Center must submit items ONE through NINE listed and explained below. Except for the TOEFL (or other test scores) documents should preferably arrive in one package at the Bologna Center Admissions Office (see address above) by February 1. It is each applicant's responsibility to request all supporting documents early enough to meet the deadline and verify that they have been received. Except for those in French, Italian and Spanish, all academic documents must be accompanied by an English translation that is certified by a recognized authority.

- 1. Application Form: applicants are urged to use the ONLINE form on the Bologna Center website: www.jhubc.it
 - If you must use the paper form, the information should be typed or printed clearly
- 2. Statement of Aims (500-600 words).
 - This essay should describe your interest in international affairs, your professional and career aspirations, and how studying at the Bologna Center and/or SAIS will help you achieve your goals. Feel free to include personal information that the Admissions Committee would not otherwise know from reading your application.
- 3. Official transcript of college or university academic record.
 - The transcript should list all courses taken for credit toward the degree, and the corresponding grades. Do not send individual exam results on separate sheets.
 - Photocopies are acceptable only if they bear an "original" stamp or seal of the university or other recognized authority (notary public, commissioner of oaths, etc.)
 - Students in their final year of study are eligible to apply and should submit a transcript of their record to date.
- 4. A guide to the grading system used at the university attended
 - This should indicate the grading scale used as well as the highest grade possible and the lowest passing grade
 - If the grading guide is indicated on the transcript, a separate document is not necessary
- 5. Official proof of successful completion of a university degree (minimum duration: three years).
 - This document must bear an original stamp or seal (as explained under #2 above).
 - Candidates completing the final year of their degree program at the time of application must submit the transcript of their final semester and proof of successful completion of the degree before beginning their studies at the Bologna Center
 - If the name of degree and date awarded is indicated on the transcript, a separate document is not necessary
- 6. Three confidential evaluations on the relevant Bologna Center Confidential Evaluation forms.
 - Evaluations must be received in sealed envelopes which have been signed across the seal by the evaluator.
 - It is preferably that evaluations be returned to the candidate by the writer in the sealed envelope so that all documents are submitted to the Bologna Center together. However, if the evaluator prefers, s/he may send it directly to the Bologna Center.
 - Preference is given to evaluations from current and former university professors, although MIPP and other candidates who have been away from university for a number of years may obtain professional references instead, or a combination of both.
- 7. A concise one-page curriculum vitae.
- 8. Non-native English speaking persons must submit ONE of the following test results (see also GRE below) taken not more than TWO years previously. This requirement can be waived ONLY for those who completed a full degree program through English in a country where English is the official language (see also GRE instructions below).
 - TOEFL - Test of English as a Foreign Language (<http://www.toefl.org/>).
 - The Bologna Center TOEFL Code is 9729. Dept. Code: 00. Do not use SAIS-DC or the JHU Baltimore codes.
 - TOEFL scores below the following limits may count against admission: iBT: 100; CBT: 250; PBT: 600.
 - Admitted students with borderline scores are required to take Intensive English in Pre-term.
 - CPE - Cambridge Proficiency in English (<http://www.cambridge-efl.org.uk/index.html>)
 - Any passing grade on the CPE is acceptable.
 - IELTS - International English Language Testing System (<http://www.ielts.org/>)
 - There are two of test: Bologna Center applicants should take the Academic Test.
 - IELTS scores below 7 may count against admission.
 - Exams should be taken by February for scores to arrive at the Bologna Center by mid-March. Those who are unable to take the English test before February should take it as soon as possible thereafter but they should be aware that preference will be given to candidates who have fulfilled the language requirement in time for admission decisions.
- 9. Signature Page and Checklist - this must be submitted with both the online and paper application.

GRE & GMAT Code: 3561 Dept: 00	The GRE (Graduate Record Examinations - general test) is not required, but is strongly recommended; a good score will enhance a candidate's chances of admission. Those who attended university in a country where English is the official language for two or more years, but have not completed a full degree program, may opt to take the GRE instead of the TOEFL. Information on the GRE is available on the internet at: www.gre.org . USE THE BOLOGNA CENTER GRE INSTITUTION CODE: 3561. Department code: 00. We are listed under Italy. Do NOT use the SAIS-DC GRE code. GMAT scores will also be considered. The Bologna Center GMAT code is: 3561.
NB:	Applicants in need of financial assistance should see separate "Information on Fellowships and Financial Aid" included in the application package. All the information requested must be submitted by the deadline in order to receive full consideration for financial assistance.

PROGRAM OF STUDY

Except for MIPP candidates, all students admitted to the Bologna Center are eligible for the Diploma. Admission to the second year of the MA at SAIS in Washington is automatic provided students complete their Bologna Center program successfully. Once enrolled at the Bologna Center, any student interested in the MAIA program (second year in Bologna) must apply for admission to that program by the end of their first semester. The application consists mainly of a thesis proposal and decisions are made at the beginning of the second semester. It is not necessary to make a final decision on which program to pursue until students are enrolled at the Bologna Center.

M.A. CONCENTRATION

Those planning to attend the second year of the MA program at SAIS in Washington should indicate their planned field of concentration, in addition to international economics, which is compulsory for all. A concentration generally entails taking approximately six courses in the given area. Except for International Development (IDEV), which has limited enrollment, the program choice you indicate on the application form is not binding (see information on IDEV below). For other programs of concentration, students make decisions during the first semester, once they become more familiar with the various programs offered, with the help of an academic advisor. Those interested in pursuing a Regional Studies concentration in the Middle East, Latin America, Russia & Eurasia, or Africa are most welcome to attend the Bologna Center but should know that the course offering in those areas is limited in Bologna. Most of the specialized courses would be taken during the second year in Washington. Detailed information on all programs can be found on the SAIS-Washington website at: www.sais-jhu.edu/programs/index.html. MA students concentrate in International Economics (compulsory) and ONE of the other areas, i.e., ONE of the international relations programs, OR international development OR ONE of the Regional programs.

INTERNATIONAL ECONOMICS (AND) (Compulsory MA Concentration)	INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS (OR) One of the following options:	INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT (OR)	REGIONAL STUDIES One of the following options:

ECONOMICS REQUIREMENT

All students entering SAIS must provide proof of successful completion of a course in Principles of Microeconomics and Principles of Macroeconomics prior to entry in October. Those who have passed such course(s) MUST provide clear evidence with the application for admission. Those who have passed an equivalent course which is listed on the transcripts with a different name must submit a syllabus (course description and bibliography) in English for the courses in question. Those who have not passed a course in Principles of Micro- and Macroeconomics must pass such course(s) by the beginning of the academic year in October, or by the beginning of pre-term if they wish to take an intermediate level economics course in pre-term (end of August through September).

MA and MAIA candidates are required to take a minimum number of courses in international economics and pass a final oral exam in economics. The number of economics courses to be taken will depend on previous background and usually ranges from four to six courses. There is no economics requirement for the MIPP program. SAIS offers an online course during the summer (normally from the end of May to the third week in August).

INTERVIEWS

A personal interview is an effective evaluation tool. The purpose of the interview is to verify the candidate's preparation in their given field of study and in international affairs in general. The interview is also useful to determine the candidate's general personality characteristics such as maturity, purposefulness, creativity, energy and leadership potential, and his/her motivation to study international relations in an international environment. In addition, the interview is useful for candidates to find out more about the program and whether or not it fits their profile.

Interviews, which are conducted by a faculty member where possible, are normally held at the end of February/beginning of March in the following cities in Europe: Bologna, Brussels, Frankfurt, Istanbul, London, Paris, and Vienna. Other venues may be added later, depending on the number of candidates. Interviews may also be conducted by telephone as deemed necessary by the Admissions Committee. Candidates who do not live near the above cities will be informed by the Admissions Office whether or not an interview is appropriate. The interview schedule for spring 2010 will be posted on the Bologna Center website at: <http://www.jhubc.it/admissions/interviewsched.cfm> by February 2010. Applicants are advised to check the Bologna Center website (www.jhubc.it) during the application process, and particularly around February 1 for updated admission and interview information.

- Candidates who live within a reasonable distance of any of the above cities should indicate their preferred interview venue on their application. Those located outside Europe at the time of the interviews may be interviewed by telephone, as deemed necessary by the Admissions Committee. Following a preliminary review of the application, candidates who meet the basic requirements will receive preliminary notification of interview arrangements, if the interview is feasible and necessary. Details of the exact time and place of the interview will be forwarded by email approximately 10 days before the interview date. Applicants are advised to provide a reliable email address and read their messages regularly during the admission process. All candidates are strongly advised to attend the interview, although those who live too far away, or who cannot afford the costs, can have their interview waived.

U.S. CITIZENS & PERMANENT RESIDENTS: APPLICATION DEADLINE - JANUARY 7th at SAIS in WASHINGTON, DC.

U.S. citizens and permanent residents who wish to attend the Bologna Center must apply through the Admissions Office at SAIS in Washington, DC. Detailed information is available on the Internet at: <http://www.sais-jhu.edu/admissions/index.html> (email: admission.sais@jhu.edu).

- U.S. students with dual citizenship are not allowed to apply through both SAIS-Washington and Bologna for admission. They must decide prior to making application which citizenship to use;
- Non- U.S. citizens interested in attending the SAIS-DC campus should apply only to the DC Admissions Office. Applications may not be submitted to both Bologna and Washington.
